

Michigan Hunters Expected To Take A Million Grouse

Rabbit Hunting Also Opens Wednesday

LANSING —Michigan hunters may kill a record-topping one million ruffed grouse in the state during the season that will get started in the upper and northern lower peninsulas October 1, the conservation department estimates.

Grouse are holding their population peak this year and a season twice as long as last year faces hunters. Game specialists predict hunter numbers will increase somewhat over the 95,000 that killed 544,000 birds during a 21-day season last year. The specialists say the longer season and the heavy crop will draw more hunters into grouse country.

Somewhat relaxed regulations on sharp-tailed grouse and prairie chickens also mean a higher kill of these species. Six counties are open in the northern lower peninsula; only four were open last year. And the upper peninsula season will run 41 days, October 1 to November 10, instead of 30 days last year.

The northern lower peninsula season runs October 1 to 22, same length but different dates from last year. Last year, 10,600 hunters shot 32,700 sharp-tailed and prairie chickens; this year an increase in number of hunters is expected to swell this total bag somewhat.

A wider distribution of hunting pressure is expected in the upper and northern lower peninsulas this year because of the simultaneous opening date. Last year, hunters concentrated in the upper peninsula which opened October 1, before moving south to the October 15 lower peninsula opening.

But even if hunters do take a record bag of grouse this year, the available surplus will not be fully harvested.

Paralleling department studies were made over two tracts of ruffed grouse cover, one of which was hunted, one protected. The study showed that up to 65 percent of these birds could be shot without harm to future population because winter kill took about that percentage from the area that was not hunted.

A similar study was made on sharp-tailed on Drummond Island and results showed that 50 percent of these birds could be shot without affecting future population. Hunters are not expected to approach these figures.

Hunters in the upper and northern lower peninsulas may start shooting cottontail rabbits, snowshoe hares and raccoons on October 1, the conservation department notes.

And starting October 1, gray squirrels may be taken in all western counties of the upper peninsula, pheasants may be taken in a portion of Menominee county and woodchucks are legal game in the northern lower peninsula.

In general, these openings herald a season that will provide more opportunities for Michigan hunters. Greater hunter pressure is expected on all species because of longer seasons, more advantageous opening dates, and peak game crops on many species.

Though the upper peninsula cottontail and snowshoe season remains the same — October 1 to March 1 — an extra 41 days hunting is slated in the northern lower peninsula the season to run October 1 to March 1, while in the southern lower peninsula an additional 26 days is authorized, the season to run October 20 to January 31. Last year, 299,000 hunters took 1,300,000 cottontails. And an estimated 74,000 hunters took 396,000 snowshoe hares.

Raccoons are expected to provide considerable sport in the northern lower peninsula because of the October 1 opening, allowing a full month of earlier, better weather for coon hunting. The department expects a heavier kill than last year, when a record 110,000 were taken by hunters and trappers, but this is expected to have little effect on the coon population as a whole.

The lower peninsula woodchuck season will be longer by 14 days in the north portion, running October 1 to January 31, and 25 days longer in the south half, running October 20 to January 31. Michigan hunters place little emphasis on chucks, but the department expects a total kill somewhat higher than last year, when 7,400 were taken.

Expect Further Archer Growth

The sport of archery deer hunting is expected to continue its mushroom-like growth this fall with 25,000 to 30,000 archers expected to take the field for the October 1 to November 5 season, the conservation department reports.

In addition, many others will stalk smaller game in other seasons that open October 1.

Archer numbers have increased in each of recent years. In 1949, the department sold 11,900 resident bow and arrow deer licenses; 14,900 were sold in 1950; and 19,500 were sold in 1951. Non-resident sales in 1951 totaled 1,421.

This year, a larger than average increase is expected as sporting goods stores report heavy equipment sales, archery ranges in state parks and recreation areas get heavier use, and archery clubs note membership increases.

Last year, the computed kill of deer, made by 20,900 archers, totaled more than 1,600.

SDAS Commemorate 100th Anniversary

Special services commemorating the 100th anniversary of SDA Sabbath Schools were held Saturday, September 27, by the local Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Mrs. Clyde Hendrick was honored as the member having the longest continuous attendance record, having 41 of the 100 years.

Mrs. Sylvia Jewett, 98, of Bay City, Mich., holds the record for the longest period of attendance for any known living Seventh-day Adventist having attended 93 of the 100 years.

"The first two Sabbath Schools were organized at Rochester and Bucksbridge, New York with only a small number of members in each," Elder L. W. Hyde pointed out. "No regular offerings were taken and consequently no mission work carried on at first. However a systematic study of the Bible was introduced which has since become the backbone of the Sabbath School and accounts for Seventh-day Adventists knowing their Bibles so well."

"Regular offerings were begun 75 years ago and mission work originated 85 years ago," Elder Hyde further informed. "It took 25 years to raise the first million dollars. However, today, from those first two Sabbath Schools there have grown 17,371 other Sabbath Schools with a membership of over 1,034,000. The offerings have increased to where now over one million dollars are raised every three months, and the Sabbath Schools have spread until they now encircle the world and operate in over 700 languages."

"This is the Lord's doing, it is marvelous in our eyes," Elder Hyde quoted from Psalm 118 in closing his remarks.

Vikings Face Lake City Here Wednesday Afternoon

Come From Behind To Tie Ironmen

The Grayling High Vikings now with a loss and a tie on their record were to meet a Lake City eleven at the City Park Field here this Wednesday afternoon. The game originally scheduled for Friday afternoon was moved up to Wednesday due to the Michigan Educational Association meeting in Petoskey which will cause the closing of schools on Thursday and Friday.

Last Friday night playing under the lights at Mancelona, a scrappy Viking team twice came from behind to tie up the game which ended 12 to 12.

After a mixup in signals in the first quarter, Grayling was forced to give up the ball deep in their own territory to the Mancelona Ironmen. After a series of running plays, Mancelona set up and completed a short pass play into the flat, scoring their first touchdown. The kick for the extra point was blocked by Grayling making the score, Mancelona 6, Grayling 0.

Two Kidnappers Sentenced

Two confessed kidnappers were sentenced last Thursday afternoon to prison terms of 5 to 10 years by Circuit Judge John F. Shaffer at the Crawford County Court House in a special session of court.

The two men, Daniel Bousha, 27, of Detroit and Glenn Elbert, 28, of Dearborn, were inmates at Camp Lehigh, a State Correction Department labor camp located at Hartwick Pines when they escaped on August 21 with a camp truck. Later abandoning the truck they flagged down Robert Max Bawins, 25, of Freeland driving a Grayling taxi and forced him to rifle point to drive them to Lansing where they were arrested following a minor traffic violation at 1 a. m. on August 22.

The two men were returned to Grayling and pleaded guilty to the kidnapping charge on August 28 before Judge Shaffer in a special term of court. Bousha was under a 10 to 30 year sentence for robbery armed and Elbert under a 3 to 15 year term for robbery unarmed when they made their escape.

Judge Shaffer recommended lightest term in the kidnapping charge for both men. For their escape, the Corrections Department Board will undoubtedly hold them to their maximum term under their original sentence. Sheriff William F. Golinick transported one of the men to Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson late last week and took the other down earlier this week.

Michelson Memorial Church News

Sunday was Promotion Day at Michelson Memorial Sunday School. After meeting in the regular groups for the final roll call of the year, all departments met together, filling the auditorium to capacity, for the promotion exercises conducted by Mr. Ernest Larson, general superintendent of the school. Star class of the organization was last year's kindergarten class, 18 in number, and the largest class ever to be promoted to the first grade. It is the sort of group that makes present class room space bulge at the seams as staff members seek additional facilities for the ever-increasing enrollments.

Attendance awards were presented to Jimmy Olson and Arnold Stancil for a year's perfect attendance, and a three months' award to Joe Robertson, who missed only one Sunday during the past year. Attendance awards for the Junior, Intermediate and Senior Departments will be delayed until the return of Mrs. T. M. Haugh, general secretary, who is vacationing at present.

Next Sunday is Rally Day, and all classes will meet in their new locations with their new teachers, and every one is looking forward to another record-shattering enrollment.

Both Youth Fellowships held their first fall meeting Sunday evening, to formulate plans for the year. Pressure Resisted . . .

The Wall Street Journal recently ran an interesting editorial on one rather remarkable phase of this Presidential campaign. "Both Governor Stevenson and General Eisenhower have now looked under the pressure group bed and found nothing there that enlightened public opinion won't take care of," the paper said.

"Governor Stevenson did it before the American Legion Convention in New York when he said he would submit to no demands he thought were 'excessive or in conflict with the public interest.'

"General Eisenhower said it . . . before the Veterans of Foreign Wars. One of his major efforts if elected, he said, would be 'directed toward serving 'the worthy interests of every group of our people, yet make the test of every policy — is it good for America?'"

The Journal went on to praise these attitudes in high terms and concluded, "It is a heartening sign to see both Governor Stevenson and General Eisenhower put such a turn to the campaign. For if both refuse to yield to excessive demands, the bargaining power of such groups and organizations will eventually become known for what it really is: A fiction under the bed and nothing more."

It is only human nature that every pressure group should claim that it can deliver the votes of its members in toto, and that the candidates must go along with its views or else. And it is probably only human nature that a good many politicians should decide to play it that way and break their necks trying to please all factions and alienate none. But the fact is that there is nothing in our recent political history to prove that any group, no matter how large and powerful, can make all or even the larger part of its membership do what it wishes once they enter the polling booth.

"The Air Reservists Are Being Inventoried"

The United States Air Force presently conducting an inventory of the Air Force Reservists not on Active Duty. Major General Harry A. Johnson, Commanding General 10th Air Force, announced today that a special team of interviewers will be located in office of the 9617th Volunteer Air Reserve Training Squadron classroom located at the Garfield Hanger Traverse City airport on 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10th October.

General Johnson says this team's objective is to personally interview every Air Force Reservist in the Northern Michigan. The Reservists are being notified, by mail of this inventory and given an appointment date with this team. In the event a Reservist has been scheduled for an interview in Saginaw, he is hereby requested to disregard this appointment.

It was explained that information needed by the Air Force consists essentially of the Reservist's present civilian occupation, his dependents, and physical status. The primary reason for this inventory is to bring the file of Reservists up to date, and to clarify the status of each Reservist in the Air Force in the event of emergency Mobilization.

Col. Wofford E. Lewis, team commander, stated this inventory of Air Force Reservists is in NO way connected to recall to Active Duty.

For further information phone Traverse City 3365 or 373-W.

Local Store Joins In Television Show

Peterson Hardware Company, 118 Michigan Avenue, local hotpoint appliance dealer, announced today that they have joined with more than 11,000 other Hotpoint dealers across the country to sponsor "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet," a new one-half hour radio and television comedy show beginning Friday, October 3.

Mr. Don Gothro said the new $3 million program will be carried over the ABC network by 325 radio and 56 television stations, the largest number of stations ever to carry any new show presented on a major network.

The program features Ozzie Nelson, his wife Harriet, and their two sons, Ricky, 11, and David, 15, in a series of family home scenes. Action takes place in a studio set that reproduces actual rooms in the Nelsons' home.

Mr. Gothro said he helped to select the "Ozzie and Harriet" show because it has a wide appeal to family audiences, and shows a typical American family in everyday situations. Since the program went on the air in 1944, it has won the National Association Award for Better Radio and Television as the best family situation comedy on the air, and was selected by the General Federation of Women's Clubs as the best program for family listening.

BIGGEST MUSKIE CAUGHT

Just to prove that all the big ones don't get away, Walter Stanley of 14630 Riverside, Detroit, hooked and landed the year's biggest muskellunge in Michigan virtually within the shadows of the city's skyscrapers! Walt was trolling for walleyes in the Detroit River just before dark on September 9th when it happened. His tackle was conventional for Detroit River pickerel trolling: inboard reel loaded with metal line to take it down in the fast current, terminated with a long stretch of 20 pound test leader, and a small lure known as a Whammie. This is kind of a midge propeller, orange colored with black dots, about one inch wide. A treble gang of #8 hooks is attached, and on one of the hooks is a piece of white rubber another inch long—cut out to resemble a small minnow.

No Net! No Gaff!

Walt Stanley had caught one walleye and was on his last swing across the river when the line seemed to rise to the surface slowly. There was no vicious tug—just a rising of the metal line as the fish took the lure and began to come to the surface. Stanley struck solidly and thought he had a big walleye. It wasn't until 5 minutes later that the muskie came out of water far behind the boat to dispel any such belief, and one look at the size of the fish gave Walt the shakes! The battle he was alone in the small boat with no net, and no gaff. There were no other fishermen in sight, so he was on his own with the biggest fish he'd ever hooked. Six times before while pickerel trolling he had hooked muskies. Six times before the fish had torn loose—and this seventh fish was the biggest of them all! Gingly he worked the big fellow alongside the boat, knowing that #6 hooks were never made to hold fish of this size. It took 20 minutes to subdue the giant to the point where Walt felt he could grab him by the gills and haul him aboard.

For this act alone Walter Stanley should be awarded a medal for bravery above and beyond the call of duty! The saw-like gills tore the flesh from his fingers, yet somehow he got the muskie into the boat, straddled it, and hammered the ugly head with a shoe, dodging the snapping jaws with teeth like a crocodile!

Bloody Battle

After a long, long time Walter got up. The bottom of the boat was bathed with blood—a lot of it his own. But he had the fish—a muskie that scaled in at an even forty pounds, and was just under four feet long! Stanley was put under a doctor's care, with hands so badly lacerated that he was unable to go back to work for several days—a small price to pay, he says, for the battle he won in Michigan Outdoors!

Mort Neff's "Michigan Outdoors" television show may be seen every Thursday at 10:00 p.m. on stations WWJ-TV, Detroit and WJIM-TV, Lansing.

Description of Land: State of Michigan, County of Crawford -- S1/2 of SE1/4 of SE1/4, Section 29, Town 26N, Range 3W, $5.94 for year 1948.

Amount necessary to redeem $3.91 plus the fees of the Sheriff.

Michigan voters cast twice as many votes in the 1952 primaries as they did in the last presidential year, '48.

But at least one observer isn't handing out any laurels for that record.

He's closely identified with a major political party and so he doesn't want to be named. In this close-fought campaign, one observation such as this might lose the race.

Governor Stevenson's remark about "the mess in Washington" has certainly been thrown back at him enough and Eisenhower was quick to seize upon the levity with which the Illinois governor spoke of Korea in an upgarped moment.

So this political expert stays anonymous . . . but not silent.

"Everybody is getting all excited because 58% of the registered voters went to the polls."

"But they completely overlook the fact that only 81% of our eligibles in Michigan are even registered. Take 58% of 81% and you get a measly total of people above 21 who exercised their privilege and duty — of the ballot."

"Add to that the fact that an awfully lot of the primary voters were practically hog-tied and dragged to the polls by service clubs and civic organizations that has 'Get Out The Vote' campaigns. Put them all together and you get a picture of a state that doesn't care a whooping darn about the most crucial election we've had in a generation. I say crucial and I don't care what party you lean toward."

In 1948, the total votes in the gubernatorial primary, in both parties, was 715,834. In August this year, there were 1,436,675 votes cast on the Republican ballot where competition was keen and on the Democratic one where Governor Williams was doing a solo act.

The same increase held in the senatorial primary. In '48 the total was 637,576 and in '52 it rose to 1,340,352.

The upswing this year isn't due entirely to a population growth. Something has kindled a fire in the voters.

Whether it's the fresh personalities on the national scene, the issues of corruption that have aroused citizens in both parties, or the reawakening of public interest to campaigns staged by Michigan newspapers, great and small, to get people to the polls, no one can say with finality.

One thing is sure. Not only Michigan but the whole nation can well better their previous records.

In 1940, two out of three persons of voting age went to the polls. Four years ago barely one out of two voted. While, from '40 to '48, over 14 million more people became eligible to vote, the number of votes actually cast decreased by more than 3 million.

Only 16% of the total population elected Harry Truman president.

Whether his election was good or bad depends, of course, on the political affiliation of the assayer, but no patriotic American, Democrat or Republican, will be happy over a decision made by such a minority of his countrymen.

If Michigan voters don't break all records come November, it won't be for a lack of the wooing. Campaign plans on both sides of the fence call for the most concerted onslaught on the electorate in history.

Michigan is a key state in both national campaigns and neither the GOP nor the Democrats can count it in the bag. That's why both Ike and Adlai have, and will, make major speeches here.

The Moody - Potter senatorial campaign will be watched closely by the whole nation. That result may play a dominant part in the makeup of the new Congress.

Potter's scorching attacks on Communism may be another indication of just how much the American public is aroused and alarmed by Red infiltration. Many Michigan observers believe that Sen. MacCarthy's victory in Wisconsin was less an endorsement of his methods than approval of his vigor in fighting domestic Communism.

Potter is playing that theme for all it's worth.

One Congressional election will have more of an effect on Michigan than it customarily does. That's the one in the Eleventh District, bordering the Straits.

Potter left its Congressional seat to seek a place in the Senate. In the Republican primary, Victor A. Knox of the Soo was chosen to carry the GOP standard and is expected to be a shoo-in come November.

That leave Knox's old job of Speaker of the House vacant. Who succeeds him will have a big bearing on Michigan's internal affairs.

The shutdown of Great Lakes freighter runs during the steel strike should cause no coal shortage in Michigan this winter.

The idled ships were those that hauled ore down from Lake Superior and carried coal back up on their return. Most of their loads are dumped in the Duluth area for trans-shipment westward.

Michigan gets its coal in the main from Toledo and only a very slight deficit resulted from the steel strike . . . well under 200,000 tons.

Of course, John L. Lewis can change the picture in the flick of one of his king-size eyebrows. A coal strike — possibly to regain personal political power Lewis has lost — would play hob with more than Michigan.

Michigan lost one popular insurance policy against John L.'s whims.

The last working mine in Saginaw County—and in the whole Central Michigan area — closed this summer at St. Charles. Owned cooperatively by the men who worked it, the mine was granted special dispensation by Lewis to stay open during strikes.

Many a Saginaw Valley home stayed warm during mine shutdowns, thanks to the St. Charles mine.

Today not even a tippie remains to mark the last stronghold of the one-mighty coal mining industry of Lower Michigan.

Michigan voters cast twice as many votes in the 1952 primaries as they did in the last presidential year, '48.

But at least one observer isn't handing out any laurels for that record.

He's closely identified with a major political party and so he doesn't want to be named. In this close-fought campaign, one observation such as this might lose the race.

Governor Stevenson's remark about "the mess in Washington" has certainly been thrown back at him enough and Eisenhower was quick to seize upon the levity with which the Illinois governor spoke of Korea in an upgarped moment.

So this political expert stays anonymous . . . but not silent.

"Everybody is getting all excited because 58% of the registered voters went to the polls."

"But they completely overlook the fact that only 81% of our eligibles in Michigan are even registered. Take 58% of 81% and you get a measly total of people above 21 who exercised their privilege and duty — of the ballot."

"Add to that the fact that an awfully lot of the primary voters were practically hog-tied and dragged to the polls by service clubs and civic organizations that has 'Get Out The Vote' campaigns. Put them all together and you get a picture of a state that doesn't care a whooping darn about the most crucial election we've had in a generation. I say crucial and I don't care what party you lean toward."

Miss Martha Jensen, who is employed in Lansing, is spending a week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Jensen, on the Au Sable.

Mrs. Laura McLeod and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Aldrich, of Roscommon left Thursday morning for a two week trip to Oklahoma to visit Roger Bruce Schroeder who is stationed at Ft. Sill with the Army. Roger is the son of Mrs. Aldrich and a grandson of Mrs. McLeod.

Mrs. Nellie Halsted, of Dearborn, is spending some time here visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Schreiber.

Following is Robert Hornings address in case you wish to write: Robert L. Hornings, ADAN 4626332 V. P. 23, Naval Air Station, Brunswick, Maine.

Mrs. G. D. Vallad is spending some time with her son in Kalamazoo.

Mrs. Robert Strong was hostess to the Saturday Bridge Club on September 27th. Mrs. Helen Rouder and Mrs. Carl Strobel were guests. Mrs. Strobel held high score and Mrs. Roy Milnes second high.

Around 25 young couple, members of a Baptist church group of Dearborn spent the week end here. They occupied Penrod's Cabin, enjoyed a river trip to Wakeley Bridge on Saturday and dinner at Wert's Lone Pine Saturday evening. The trip is an annual affair with the group.

This news happens only once in a life time. Mrs. Alfred Galloway was greatly surprised Sunday morning to arise and find a big car and trailer in her yard. They were loaded with roofing paper and a crew in work clothes there to put a badly needed new roof on her house. The car was from Flint and in it were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Azelton, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Galloway and Mr. and Mrs. John Galloway of Flint. There was also a car from Grayling with several neighbors and Clarence & Frank Galloway. They brought their dinners and suppers and Mrs. Elsie Denno of Grayling cooked the food for the crew. Everything was a donation. Mrs. Galloway says it is a bad mistake to say there are no real neighbors and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Gother and sons Geoff and Gerry of Lansing spent last week here occupying one of the Sam Rasmussen cottages at Lake Margrethe and visiting relatives and friends.

Ac3 Arthur E. Bentley has graduated from A. P. School at Fort Ben Harrison and is now stationed in Texas. His address is A. F. 16416207, H.G.S., S.G., Sec. H. 6, A.F. Wollers, AFB, Texas.

Lake (Juanita Seord) of Jackson, Mrs. Ches-Kroner (Florence Fitzgerald) of Detroit, Mrs. Gay Ware (Hazel Shankel) of Alma, all former teachers of Grayling High School, and Mrs. Nevels Pearson of East Lansing, spent the weekend at the home of Miss Margrethe Nielsen. The occasion was the 20th annual reunion of the N.B.B.O. club organized in Grayling in 1932. Mrs. Chas. Wofford (Margaret Hendrick) of Oceano, California was unable to attend.

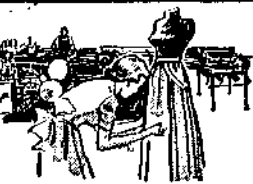

Mr. and Mrs. James Chandler moved back to Jackson Thursday to make their home. "Jim" had been in charge of Camp Lehman prison camp.

Bits O' Talk

John H. Peterson spent the week-end on duty at Selfridge Army Air Base. He arrived home Tuesday after a business trip to Detroit.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, Grayling, 1 to 5 P. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hewitt of Bay City were in Grayling Monday and Tuesday owing to the death of Paul Jones.

Mrs. Wilbur Winslow, Mrs. David Cook and Mrs. Albert Denewett and daughter spent Monday in Traverse City.

Mrs. Algot Johnson and the Howard Granger family of Kalkaska returned home Saturday after spending a week visiting friends and relatives in Peoria and Galva, Ill., and Duluth and Two Harbors, Minn.

There's a "get tough" era coming to Michigan highways and someone is going to get hurt. It may be you.

You may be hurt by a traffic ticket and a stiff penalty.

But Michigan editors, who are touching off the "get tough" policy this week, think it's better to get hurt in the pocketbook nerve than to wind up in a hospital or morgue.

Michigan editors—the editor of The Avalanche and 400 other weekly and daily newspapers—have pledged the power of the press to the Michigan Highway Safety Seminar. That is made up of law enforcement officers, school administrators, transportation leaders, courts, engineers, businessmen—a cross section of all Michigan interests and activities.

Speaking through the Michigan Press Association the editors have set up these objectives:

1. To obtain from public officials and to publicize in their columns the names of all persons who have lost their driver's license.

2. To acquaint the public of a need for a centralized driver's licensing bureau.

3. To enlist the prosecuting attorney, chief of police, sheriff, justices of the peace, judges, mayors and city managers in a "get tough" program of law traffic enforcement and punishment of offenders.

Those three steps can hurt you—and they can protect you from hurt.

How?

If you're a reckless driver and your license is taken away, you're going to be hurt. Your name will be splashed in type in your hometown newspaper; your neighbors will know your disgrace; somebody is going to tip off the officers if you drive without your license.

But if you're an average Michigan motorist, decent and law abiding, that publicity is going to keep some gasoline cowboy from endangering the life of your child.

If you're an epileptic, a habitual drunkard or in your dotage, you're going to be hurt by a centralized driver's licensing bureau.

You won't be able to get a driver's license by telling a hard-luck story or because the sheriff is a good friend of your brother or because some bored clerk in the bureau is too lazy to give you a test.

But if you're the average Michigan motorist, you're going to be mighty happy to know that the driver of that truck hurtling down or you isn't apt to have a seizure and crash head-on into you. You'll be glad to know that a driver's license is positive assurance that some nearsighted driver isn't going to run over you, which is why he couldn't see her in the twilight.
